MAUD MULLER.
Maud Muller on a summer's morn
Heard the toot of an auto horn.
She saw the Judge go whirling past;
"Gee!" said Maud, "ain't he going fast?"
And then she thought of the sighs and tears
The Judge had caused her all these years.
So she set her teeth and never flinched,
But took his number and had him "pinched."

Another Mishap

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. John Rattler and daughter of Maylick neighborhood, were driving to this city and when near the Comer place on the Fleming pike the horse frightened at an automobile, and becoming unmanageable upset the buggy.
Mrs. Rattler was painfully hurt, receiving cut over the eye, shoulder sprained and limb lacerated. The other occupants were more or less bruised. Mrs. Rattler was brought to this city and received medical attention from Dr. C. McGuire.

Splendid Tobacco Season

The rain which has continued intermittently since last Friday has not only relieved the drouth but it has put an entirely different phase on the expectations of the farmers.

The Mason county tobacco crop is now all planted, at least 10,000 acres, all of which has a good start.

Corn, pastures and all crops are green and growing rapidly, and altogether the outlook is the best for a great yield in many years.

noon.

Death of Mr. John O'Connor

The friends in this city of Mr. John O'Connor of Chicago will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred last Friday in a hospital in that city. But a few weeks since Mr.
O'Connor was in attendance at the funeral of a kinsman in this city, seemingly in robust health.

TAFT WINS FIRST ROUND

Elihu Root Elected Chairman By 56
Votes to the Good

No Rough House—Convention Meets This Morning at 11 O'clock

Taft won a decided victory in the Chicago convention yesterday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock when Elihu Root, the Taft man was elected Chairman of the convention over Governor Mc-Govern, the LaFollette-Roosevelt nominee.

The vote was: Root 558; McGovern 502.

The convention then adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

From the indications Taft has full control of the convention and will be nominated this afternoon or tonight.

THE KENTUCKY DELEGATION

The Kentucky delegation met at the Great Northern Hotel and ratified the selections made at Louisville following the State Convention in April. The principal places filled were as follows:

National Committee—McCallister.
Resolutions—Senator Bradley.
Credentials—Maurice Galvin.
Rules—W. D. Cochran.
Organization—J. B. Breathitt.
To notify Presidential nominees—R. C. Stoll.
Chairman of delegation—Senator Bradley.

MUCH CONFUSION BUT NO ROUGH-HOUSE

The much touted roughhouse promised by the insane theodore and his riotous henchmen failed absolutely to materialize.

Under the frowning protection of 500 policemen and the grim determination of the National Committee, the convention opened at 12 o'clock, and with the usual pandemonium attending all big political gatherings, the proceedings were tame to what was expected.

Roosevelt's combine with LaFollette failed to win the big bluff a single thing, and after the vote on the chairmanship between Root on the Taft side and McGovern on the Roosevelt-LaFollette side, the steam roller had finished its work.

CHAIRMAN ROOT'S PACIFIC SPEECH

CHICAGO, ILL., June 18th—In his address to the Republican National Convention as its temporary Chairman, Senator Elihu Root of New York said in part:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: Believe that I appreciate this expression of confidence. I wish I were more competent for the service you require of me. * * * Throughout our party's history, in each Presidential election, we have gone to the American people with the confident and just assertion that the Republican party is not a mere fortuitous collection of individuals, but a coherent and living force as an organization, effectively responsible, worthy of confidence, competent to govern.
We are entitled to your belief in the sincerity of the principles we profess and the loyalty of our candidates to those principles because we are the party of Lincoln, Sumner, Seward, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, Blaine, Hoar and McKinley."

The Fascination of FANS

A pretty fan in the hands of a graceful woman is an effective weapon in her armament of charms. She will find these aids to her conquests here.

GAUZE AND SILK FANS in black or white with painted decorations and pretty gold or silver sequins, 25c to $1.

LACE TRIMMED FANS with lace edge or lace medallions. Carved bone or highly decorated wood sticks.
50c to $1.

PYROXYLIN FANS that look like ivory. Pierced border run with ribbon, beautiful hand decoration. Only four inches long, easy to slip in purse or bag. The season's latest fad. 50c.

PARCHMENT FANS with ivory bracelet, 15c. Do not confuse these with the cheaper paper fan that sells for 10c.

CHAIN FANS of prettily decorated parchment.

These are attached to neat gilt or silver chains 36 inches long. 25c.

JAPANESE FANS in the quaint conceits the Japs are so fertile in originating. They range in price from 5, 10, 15c for the plain sorts to 25c for the more elaborated kinds with cut out designs. In this lot we also include the Jap wood fans at 50c. They are prettily decorated and have a dainty scalloped border.

Our HOSIERY DEPARTMENT

Is one of our strongest. It embraces every popular need and the prices are pruned to the lowest notch. We feel absolutely certain it will support our statement that the BEST 10, 15, 25, 35 and 50c hosiery for Men, Women and Children is to be found here.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

The total of persons of school age—that is, from 6 to 20 years, inclusive—in continental United States in 1910, was 27,750,599, of whom 17,300,202, or 62.3 per cent, attended school.

The cause and cure of poverty has been discovered, according to a Southwest Texas philosopher. It is a germ that can be killed only by work and, says this philosopher, nothing offers a better opportunity for this than an irrigated farm. He says: "If you want to get the poverty germ out of your system seek an irrigated farm; the pesky things can't live an hour in sight of one of these places. Poverty germs cannot exist in a section where the people get up and hustle and an irrigated farm is a constant incentive to labor, inspiring a love for work because the returns are sure and satisfactory."

The principle could hardly be better stated. What do we mean by the rule of the people? The words are lightly used, and often with no understanding of their practical bearing. In such a country as this, rule of the people can mean only the rule of the majority. To be sure, all the people vote, all have a chance to be heard. But the Government is created by a majority vote. The majority rules. For the purpose of ruling, therefore, the majority is the people.

If that is so, several rather important consequences follow. One is that the minority, though beaten at the polls, still has some rights against the majority. If that is so, the people—that is, the majority—are not supreme, cannot be supreme. If they could, we should simply have the majority in place of the old absolute monarch.

If ten men vote one way and nine men the other, it would be most unfair to say that the ten, as representatives of the people, should be allowed to do whatever they pleased. They might please to rob the nine altogether of their rights. Property might be confiscated, liberty impaired, and even life forfeited, and all in the name of popular government.

So there must be restraints on the majority, on the people themselves. And that is the reason why we have constitutions and courts. Without them liberty would soon degenerate into despotism. The people themselves have said that there are some things which they, acting through majorities, ought not to be allowed to do. And so they put into the Constitution those great prohibitions for the protection of the minority, for the protection, perhaps, of one man against the millions of others. And this is popular government as the President understands it, as it has been understood by every well-informed man who has ever written or spoken on the subject. No majority vote can make right the confiscation of property or the invasion of the personal liberty of the citizen. So we have said that these things shall not be done. To talk about a "pure democracy" in this country is folly. We have no pure democracy, and it is to be hoped we never shall have such a thing. It has failed horribly wherever tried, and has, as a rule, been the precursor of anarchy and dissolution and tyranny.—Indianapolis News.

And the whole dam family are in Chicago—the Roosevelt's, of course.

Can the "Lion hunter of Oyster Bay" bulldoze the Republican party? We'll know to-day.

William Jennings Bryan is "reporting" the Chicago convention this week and is to receive $2,500 for his four days work from a "skindicate." Little Willie may lose the Presidency regularly every four years, but he always gets away with the fun—and the gate receipts.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, the new Commander in Chief of the United Confederate Veterans, is an attorney of Louisville. He is a very modest man but makes four boasts:

- "I have never taken a drink.
- "I have never sworn an oath.
- "I have never touched a card.
- "I have never wagered a cent."

The new commander has been a resident of Louisville since he returned from Europe soon after the Civil War.

Mark these words! Roosevelt's election to the Presidency would spell revolution within 10 years. And by revolution we do not mean mere political overturning of a system of government. We mean actual warfare by force of arms upon the rule of a despot.

We mean bloodshed and carnage, class arrayed against class in a mighty struggle for supremacy, vastly more destructive than our war of section against section. Is there a limit to the ambition of Roosevelt? Would he be permitted to assume dictatorship without a struggle? Answer these two questions, and consider the inevitable consequences of intrenching the Man on Horseback in the White House.

We are not hysterical. We retain faith in the sober judgment of the American people. We believe they would repudiate Roosevelt and all his revolutionary projects at the polls. But the risk is too great, the stake too vast. Roosevelt must be beaten in Chicago. President Taft must not flinch. The National Committee must stand firm. The great body of thoughtful, patriotic Republicans must back them up with all earnestness and determination.—Harper's Weekly.

Chicago Record Herald.

Col. J. W. McCulloch, of Owensboro, Ky., arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon, supplied with two things. One was a vote in the convention for President Taft and the other—far more important from the standpoint of convention delegates—was a new Kentucky drink.
Col. McCulloch displayed his discovery in the drink line within five minutes after coming to the city. He went to the Pompeian room at the Congress Hotel, called a select few friends about him, and summoned a waiter.
"I'll have a Kentucky kiss," said the delegate when the waiter got around to him.
"Why—or—I'm afraid we don't serve it. I never heard of it," said the waiter.
"Of course you never did," said the Colonel. "You never did because I've just invented it."
"Just put a finger of brandy in the bottom of the glass, then a dash of bitters—you find that in every kiss—a thin covering of cream on that, and then a sprig of mint. If it's a sweet kiss, a man never gets enough, if not he tries another drink. Bring me a good one."

A WORD WITH WOMEN

VALUABLE ADVICE FOR MAYSVILLE READERS

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment, the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Sam Neal, 457 West Second street, Maysville, Ky., says: "Although I have never used Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can recommend them. One of my family had a great deal of trouble from his back and kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills made him entirely better and he always praises them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlhenn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Failure of the Senate and House conferees to agree on the disposal of various pension agencies has caused a shortage in the June payment of pensioners.

"LOAN-SHARK" BILL

To Protect Small Borrowers, Becomes a Law in Kentucky

Stuart Chevalier's "loan shark" bill, passed by the last Legislature, became a law recently. The bill is designed to protect borrowers of small sums of money from the numerous exactions and hardships imposed by loan sharks under the old regime.

An assignment of wages to an amount of $200 is not legal under the new law unless the employer of the person making the assignment is notified within three days after the assignment is made. The law is such that it is believed that the practice of wage assignments will eventually pass out of existence in Kentucky and the old form of notes will again come into use.

Colonel Blood, a "Dime Novel Hero" in Real Life

THIS is the story of a man whose adventures were wilder and more dramatic than those of a dime novel hero.

The man was "Colonel" or "Captain" Thomas Blood, a soldier of CAPTAIN BLOOD fortune, born in Ireland about 1628. When parliament went to war against King Charles of England this young adventurer joined the Parliamentary army and won a reputation for reckless courage. After parliament had overthrown and beheaded the king and had put Oliver Cromwell in charge of England's government, Colonel Blood found himself without any occupation thrilling enough to satisfy him. But his time came soon after Charles II. (son of the beheaded monarch) mounted the British throne.

Blood then stirred up an insurrection in Ireland, planning to begin the rebellion with the capture of Dublin Castle and the seizing of the Duke of Ormond, lord-lieutenant of Ireland. It was a clever plot. But it failed. Blood escaped. Many of his friends and fellow-rebels were hanged. Blood vowed revenge upon the Duke of Ormond for these executions.

He fled to Holland, but soon ventured back to England. There he proceeded to work out his revenge. Ormond was driving home, on the night of December 6, 1670, through the dark London streets, when his carriage was surrounded by Blood and a party of unknown men. Ormond was seized, dragged from his coach and hustled off in the direction of Tyburn Hill (London's official place of execution and the spot where some of Blood's friends had been hanged).

Blood coolly informed the duke that they intended to hang him from the gibbet on which the conspirators had perished. The threat would have been carried out then and there had not a party of Ormond's followers ridden up in hot pursuit and rescued their struggling master.

Blood once more escaped unsuspected. His next plot was the most daring of all. Disguised as a clergyman and followed by one or two accomplices, he wandered into the Tower of London. From room to room he and his friends went, gazing in open mouthed wonder at the sights, as any party of simple country folk might have done. At length they came to the apartment where the crown and "orb" and scepter and other royal jewels of England were kept.

At a signal, Edwards, the guardian of the treasure, was attacked. He defended himself and was nearly murdered. Leaving Edwards bound on the floor, Blood snatched up the jeweled crown of England, hid it under his long clerical cloak and stroled peacefully out of the room. One of his followers stole the "orb" and followed him.

But the alarm had been raised. The thieves were chased and caught. Thus England was spared the unspeakable humiliation of losing its royal crown by a thief. Blood was thrown into jail. No one doubted that he would be put to death at once. People wondered what tortures would be inflicted on the man who had dared to lay unholy hands on the royal regalia.

But Blood's luck held good. He managed to get word to King Charles II. that if he were executed there were hundreds of friends who would avenge his death. He is also said to have been in the secret employ of the dissolute Duke of Buckingham, who was a favorite of the king and who hated the Duke of Ormond. It was even whispered that Buckingham had inspired Blood's attack on Ormond and that he perhaps counted on paying some of his own ducal gambling debts out of the sale of the stolen crown jewels.

In any case, instead of ordering Blood's immediate execution, Charles II. actually visited him in prison. No one knows just what took place during the interview or what royal scandals Blood threatened to expose if he were killed. To every one's surprise, Charles not only set Blood free, but placed him in high favor at court and granted him a pension of $2,500 a year.

For the next ten years Blood was a personage of importance in London. The thief and blackmailer waxed rich (while poor Edwards was refused even a petty reward for his plucky defense of the crown jewels.) At last, the lucky man went too far. He spread scandalous stories about his patron, Buckingham—probably by way of blackmail—and was arrested.

He was released on bail. In August, 1680, he died under somewhat suspicious circumstances while waiting to be tried.

If You Were an Expert, What Car Would You Buy?

The time has passed when automobiles can be sold to you on their appearances or claims. This is a day when you and every purchaser must be shown what the car for which you pay your money will actually perform; what it will do. Beware of an automobile salesman who attempts to beguile you with a pleasing story. Tell him to show the goods and prove to you that his cars are worth the money. Find out whether his car is a real car or only an assembled automobile built to sell.

You have a right to your money's worth, but it is up to you to see that you get it. Deeper than all appearances, there are a few expert tests which ought to be applied to every car.

Who makes the car? Is it an assembled car or made from top to bottom by one manufacturer? What kind of a guarantee is on it? Does the manufacturer respect his own product with a real guarantee, or does he want you to take the chance? What do parts cost you and how conveniently can you get them? How many cars of this make are in service and how many are giving satisfaction? Questions like these go deep into the heart of the case, and if you put them rigorously upon any car you will find out with a certainty whether or not that car is worth its price.

We are selling Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars because we know that, dollar for dollar, their equal is not sold in the market today. The records of many thousands of cars in all kinds of service have convinced us absolutely. Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are built to run, and because they run they sell. If we cannot prove to you under the most searching test that Studebaker cars are absolutely the best automobile values in the market, we do not want your business; but we can prove it, and your neighbors who drive these cars will tell you the same thing.

Be an expert when it comes to buying a car. You can, by getting from us some further ideas on real tests of an automobile. Clip the attached coupon and send it to us now because we have something new to tell you which you ought to know, whatever car you have in mind.

Frankfort was there with the mitt in the field and showed class, but if Maysville had rallied in the fifth, when Frankfort made two errors, the home team could have won easily.

Guest's batting was the feature. The game was played in a drizzling rain most of the time.

The score:

WASHINGTON THEATER

Has Beautiful New Drop Curtain and New Scenery—Good Plays Booked

The Washington theater has a beautiful new drop curtain just finished yesterday, the work being done by the American Scenery Company of Detroit, Mich. The painters have been busy all week on the big picture on the curtain, which shows an exquisite view in the Mediterranean sea, with hazy mountains and tropical richness. Surrounding the picture are several advertisements of Maysville business concerns, including THE PUBLIC LEADER.

The new curtain and the new scenery added cost the Opera-house managers about $500.

Beginning with the fall theatrical season Manager Russell will offer the public some of the highest class productions on the American stage.

He has already booked a dozen or more plays for the coming season, and with the new curtain and scenery, the Washington should usher in a new era of success in the amusement line.

The American Scenery Company was represented here this week by Mr. N. C. Walters, the Business Agent, Mrs. E. B. Marshall, traveling Treasurer, and the artists who did the work and the new curtain shows them to be real artists.

They came from Danville, Ky., here and left yesterday for Huntington, where they will install new opera-house scenery.
